

COLUMBIA ASTRONOMY OUTREACH PRESENTS:

STARGAZING, FILM & LECTURE SERIES

The Right Stuff

Friday, June 15th, 7:00PM

Pupin Hall, Columbia University

This film adaptation of Tom Wolfe's book on the history of the U.S. Space Program chronicles the evolution of spaceflight from its origins with the early test pilots at Edwards Air Force Base through the first class of astronauts selected for NASA's Project Mercury. (Rated R, 193 min.)

Films are introduced, shown, and later discussed by scientists, separating science fact from fiction.

Lectures are 30 minutes and at a public level. No reservations are needed.

Films and lectures are followed by guided stargazing with telescopes (weather permitting).

All events are free, open to all members of the public, and held at Columbia University.
