

COLUMBIA ASTRONOMY OUTREACH PRESENTS:

STARGAZING & LECTURE SERIES

The distinction between stars and planets might seem obvious in our own Solar System, but just beyond our backyard there are mysterious objects that challenge our understanding of them both. I will stump about stars, expound about exoplanets, and illuminate the objects in between.

Cool Stars, Hot Exoplanets, and Bringing Astronomy Down to Earth

Emily Rice

Friday, March 23rd, 7:00PM

Pupin Hall, Columbia University

These are free lectures at a public level followed by guided stargazing with telescopes (weather permitting).

All events are held at Pupin Hall at Columbia University. No reservations are needed.

Lectures are 30 minutes, stargazing lasts 90 minutes. Stay only as long as you want.
